OKKO. When manufacturing children's chairs, successful adult chairs are often simply scaled down. However, at OKKO, we wanted to take the opposite approach: The chair is designed specifically for children and only then adapted for adults. So, at OKKO, it's not children sitting on a downsized adult chair, but rather adults sitting on an enlarged children's chair.

The chair is made of high-quality solid wood, while the backrest is crafted from molded cellulose layers. Distinctive, circular connection points between the backrest and the frame, along with the recessed, color-contrasted seat, give the chair its unique character.

Functionality and imagination merge at OKKO – the chair radiates friendliness and openness. It gains its own soul and becomes a loyal companion.

OKKO is manufactured entirely by HUSSL at Umlberg. It comes in three stackable sizes.
